

Featured Artist of the Month
Judy Horn

Judy Horn has been an artist fo as long as she can remember; painting and drawing have been her lifelong passions. She loves to create images using all different media, including photography. Her photos are often taken with the creation of a new image in mind, and the subject in front of her camera will end up being a component in that image. Judy considers her work a success if there is an emotional and spiritual connection to the completed image.

Judy has been a member of AAOS since 2008. Her work can be seen in many locations in Ocean Shores; a mural at the Worldmark Marina Village, multiple pieces of art work at Faith Community Church, she designed the mural for the convention center, a big blue whale on the carport on Duck

Lake Drive and the logos for the Ocean Shores Library.

Many years of work provide her with experience to combine photography with painting and drawing, some on a traditional canvas even though most of her work has been created within the electronic platform and printed on a variety of surfaces.

While pursuing her BA degree her husband was serving in the US Air Force and stationed in Utah. Judy enrolled in Weber State University where they offered a computer art class and she fell in love with creating images on the computer using a stylus and electronic tablet to draw on the screen.

Since attending Weber State in the mid 80's there have been many changes to art within digital media, and she has been there to see it all. In the 80's a semester's work was three-four images, now with scanners, printers and sophisticated electronic tools the creative process has become much more efficient.

Judy is a Fellow PPW member and has earned degrees through the Professional Photographers of America: Master of Photography, Master of Electronic Imaging, Certified Professional Photographer and Photographic Craftsman. She has also won multiple photographic awards including National Loan Collection merits and "Best of Show" awards at the local, state and national level art shows.
