Artist of the Month for April - Tim Rossow

Our featured artist of the month for April is Watercolorist, Tim Rossow. Tim can remember back to when he was four years old and having a desire for art. His junior high school art teacher introduced him to watercolor, acrylics and oils. In college he minored in studio arts.

Tim began his career as a pastoral minister. After two years in his ministry he returned to painting in watercolor, with an emphasis on landscapes. Tim didn't do much in his art until he was semi-retired. He continues traveling all over the country doing missionary work. This gives him exposure to various landscapes for inspiration to his painting.

Tim builds his own picture frames for his art. When he is not traveling for his work, he is walking the beaches, painting landscapes and building his custom frames to match his paintings.

Tim's paintings consist of soft pastel colors with lots of movement and a distinct style. His paintings, prints and note cards are available from his home studio. You can see his work at Fusion Art Gallery in Ocean Shores. He is also a participating artist in the annual Art Splash Tour of Ocean Shores in August.

You can contact Tim regarding his art at:

Email address, rossow.tim@gmail.com Website, www.timrossow.com

Where To Go For Your Art Fix

by Sharon Gochoel

Have you gone by the big red Eagles building on 200 W Market Street in Aberdeen, which has been transformed into Aberdeen Art Center?

This remarkable transformation was done by two artists, Doug Orr and David Rodriguez. This was not their first experience with running an art gallery or turning an old large building into an art center. In 2002 they leased and activated an unused 35,000 square foot building from the City of Long Beach, California and turned it into an art center. They held art walks the first Friday of the month which drew 15,000 to 30,000 visitors. It was the second largest art event in California.

Then in 2013 Doug and David moved to Aberdeen, WA to seek another large building to turn into an art center. They found and purchased the old 16,000 square foot Eagles building in Aberdeen. This building had no electricity or gas service. The newer Eagles building next door supplied the utilities. This necessitated installation of electricity and gas meters. There were several other situations they confronted before they could get rolling in the renovation of the building.

Today, the old Eagles building is the Aberdeen Art Center. The first floor consists of a beautiful 3000 square foot art gallery called Alder Grove Art Gallery. The gallery has art from numerous local artists, and all types of media. The gallery changes art every two months.

While continuing on the main floor is Leigh's Custom Framing. Leigh has some of the most sophisticated matting equipment and framing tools. She's very skilled in helping you pick the right frame that enhances any art piece needing a frame.

Still on the main floor is Mother Crow's Gallery. Here you will find an array of art by local artists, art classes, and often you'll find an artist in action. Also on the main floor is an 800 square foot museum, called Friends of Aberdeen. This is where the museum moved to after the Armory Building in Aberdeen burnt down. The museum is exclusively about the history of Aberdeen. And finally, on the main floor is a good size class room for anyone to rent who needs a facility to teach art.

Equally as fascinating as the renovated main floor, is the second floor where Doug and David built a spacious 4,000 square foot apartment. When you enter the apartment you feel like you are back in 16th to 18th Century Baroque. The colors are rich and warm, the furniture large and decorative and the walls are accented by baroque style paintings. The remaining 4000 square feet of the second floor is

Doug and David's art studio. The studio still has the style of the old Eagles days, including a row of theater seats against the east wall.

Aberdeen Art Center is surely a place to visit if you are in the market for great art, an art enthusiast, or just want a place to go. If you've been there already, then next time you visit the center, think about what it was like before the transformation. Aberdeen Art Center is surely a place to go for your next art fix.

Aberdeen Art Center's website is: www.aberdeenartcenter.com. The site has information on all of the other tenants in the building, local art events in the area, 2021 Rain Glow Festival in July and more. If you have questions or want information on renting the class room etc., you can email Doug at mindsculptor1@gmail.com.

Don't forget the Art Walk every first Friday of the month. Food, music, artists-in-action and wonderful art.
