Ocean Shores Library
Call for Submissions

The Ocean Shores Library is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year. The library has partnered with Associated Arts of Ocean Shores (AAOS) to produce an art exhibit based on the theme of "Libraries," which will be on display at the library during the month of September.

The library and AAOS are seeking artwork inspired by libraries, specifically our library and this 50th anniversary, to display in the exhibit. Think broadly about what this library means to you and why you think it is a valuable asset in our community.

To submit your work for consideration, please contact Keitha Owen at keitha@osgov.com by August 1, 2022 with a photograph and description of your artwork including materials, dimensions, and year created. All mediums of visual art will be considered and artists may submit multiple works for consideration. There is space for 3D as well as wall art.

If selected, artists must be able to deliver their work to the Library on August 30 or 31, 2022 for installation and sign a release of liability form. Please have all accepted wall hanging artwork ready to hang with picture wire on the back. Your artwork may be featured in promotions for the exhibit. Artists must also plan to retrieve their work on September 30, 2022.

The Library is unable to sell your work on your behalf. If selected, the Library will retain your work for the duration of the exhibit, but sales may be conducted at your discretion.

This is not an art contest, hence there will be no judging or prize monies.

Artists are encouraged, but not required, to be members of AAOS. For more information, please visit www.associatedarts.org/membershipsignuporrenewal.

You may contact Corrine Holden at corrinebholden@gmail.com if you have any questions.

May— Ed Schroll

The colors of Fall through the lens of Ed Schroll, featuring the impressive colors of New England in autumn. While traveling the backroads of New England in mid October, I found small towns scattered throughout the countryside immersed in color. Nature in all its grandeur. If you have never seen New England in the Fall then travel with me through the highways and byways of the Great North East.
